

Subtle Changes in View Lyrics - Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Anything & Everything

I want to stay in this moment, in this place where anything is possible and everything can wait
I want to stay a bit longer and keep this smile a little while

I find myself walking on air, it's been this way all day I really can't explain but I'll tell you this seems everything is going my way

It may seem a little unrealistic, maybe sounds naive but I'm happy to hold on to this mood for as long as I can get it...You know

I want to stay in this moment, in this place
where anything is possible and everything can wait
I want to stay a bit longer and keep this smile a little while

I find myself humming a line, can't even name the song and notice all the subtle changes in view while I drive along

I can't tell what will transpire when I flip my turn signal on but I'll sing out loud and savor the song for as long as I can hear it, because

I want to stay in this moment, in this place
where anything is possible and everything can wait
I want to stay a bit longer and keep this smile a little while

when the feelings change, I'll be fine it's all a part of living life I'll take the lows that come with the highs but at a time like this why ask why

I want to stay in this moment, in this place
where anything is possible and everything can wait
I want to stay a bit longer and keep this smile a little while

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Say

I recognize the pain in your eyes
A glance cast aside, a heart full of pride I hear a slight tremble in your voice it gives away your hesitation but now you've got my full attention so baby

Say what you need to, before the time whittles away
let the words roll like thunder, bringing on a brand new day Say what you need to, your situation's safe with me
it's revealing that brings healing
and leads you on the road to peace
the road to peace

Your spoken word seems to wake the past unlocking the door to a room you've been before I will go with you into that place we'll bring it out into the light where it can start to be alright, you'll see

Say what you need to, before the time whittles away
let the words roll like thunder, bringing on a brand new day

Say what you need to, your situation's safe with me
it's revealing that brings healing
and leads you on the road to peace
the road to peace

You think that I won't understand that I've never been there before Well I've got news for you babe I've knocked on that door

I've had things to say and I've needed a friend now I can be here for you so let me tell you again

Say what you need to, before the time whittles away
let the words roll like thunder, bringing on a brand new day
Say what you need to, your situation's safe with me
it's revealing that brings healing

and leads you on the road to peace
the road to peace

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Put It Aside

I've got this thing that bothers me, yellin in my ear it never takes vacation anywhere, anytime of the year it strives to be the ruler of my life, it's my pride

Sittin on my shoulder, saying I'm a fool compares me to another, sways my intent, controls my mood it's a cheap imitation of me, oh that pride

I turn and slowly walk away keeping my distance, put it aside but it's still dead in front of me, no place to run, no place to hide

I feel so high and mighty, it's illusion, a joke
I'll never measure up, nothing to offer no hope gotta work so hard to keep it in it's place, oh that pride

I turn and slowly walk away keeping my distance, put it aside
but it's still dead in front of me, no place to run, no place to hide

I feel so high and mighty, it's illusion, a joke
I'll never measure up, nothing to offer no hope
gotta work so hard to keep it in it's place, oh that pride

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Uncover

Kick back try to write a line, clear my mind of distractions warm tea, try to simply be, but something else is bothering me I can't explain why I end up like I do uncover me and cover me with you

I got stuff that covers me, buried deep in obligation what's too much, who's to say, I don't want to sign my life away I do what I don't want to do, maybe I lack concentration

It feels like a test to figure out good and best
I can't explain why I end up like I do
uncover me and cover me with you

Each moment's a lesson learned, I choose my own complications wake up and face the fact there's only one thing that keeps me on track

I can't explain why I end up like I do
uncover me and cover me with you

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Draw Me

My friends call me crazy, cause I wait around they can't see the romance, they don't know the bond In you I've come to realize an affair of the heart cupid could not match this appeal for my love suddenly you're wooing me and I reach out my hand

I fly, soar high, when you draw me to your self there's nothing between us, near us when you draw me to your self I'm awakened, alive, my senses reeling
all my being, all I'm feeling

Hear me, know me as you draw me
draw me to your self

Steadily we're searching, for that special one to fill the hole inside us, to finally know true love you pursue our passion and call us beloved with the sweet, sweet smell of roses and moonbeams on the dock
suddenly you're wooing me and I reach out my hand

I fly, soar high, when you draw me to your self
there's nothing between us, near us
when you draw me to your self

I'm awakened, alive, my senses reeling
all my being, all I'm feeling

Hear me, know me as you draw me
draw me to your self

I am filled with devotion that they don't understand bringing a closeness I can't quite comprehend

I fly, soar high, when you draw me to your self
there's nothing between us, near us
when you draw me to your self
I'm awakened, alive, my senses reeling
all my being, all I'm feeling

Hear me, know me as you draw me
draw me to your self

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Save Your Heart

I see you swaying across the room the music's beckoning your ear countless arms outstretched inviting you to join the dance

Anticipation fills your eyes as melody sharpens with each step While turning circles thoughts become cloudy so let me remind you to Save your heart for me, for me

won't you, save your heart for me

so many others will come and go I know
but save your heart, please save your heart for me

You search the crowd longing to find one who will move you deep inside the blur of faces bring uncertainty to what's perceived

I reach for your hand but you're swept away ready to follow another lead the poetic movement of the dance is all your able to see now but

Save your heart for me, for me
won't you, save your heart for me
so many others will come and go I know
but save your heart, please save your heart for me

Why oh why, keep your dance card so full when my name is all it needs, all it needs

Save your heart for me, for me
won't you, save your heart for me
so many others will come and go I know
but save your heart, please save your heart for me

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

In the Quiet

I've been listening, longing to hear you thinking you'll speak in the pounding wind I've felt the earthquake and the heat of the fire but it wasn't the flame that reached deep in

I find you in the quiet, in a whisper close to my ear for a moment your voice breaks through all the noise and the calling become clear

I used to wonder and I chased the notion that I couldn't reach you, we'd never be but you seem to have that way of revealing meeting me here at the place of my need

I find you in the quiet, in a whisper close to my ear
for a moment your voice breaks through all the noise
and the calling become clear

Oh I've searched high and low mountain top to valley below and I've listened to the sounding sea

Now what I know to be true is that I find you in a hush, on the wings of the breeze

I find you in the quiet, far away from the meaningless view in the stillness I see all the ways you reach to me and I'm reminded here's where I find you here's where I find you, I'm reminded here's where I find you.

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Forgetful Me

I am unfaithful and return to the place I swore to abandon where there's no focus, purpose or real meaning

I desperately search for an answer to the recurring question of why I lose what I don't want to leave behind

Why do I forget what I hold so dear
How do I forget the words I need to hear I want to change, take this as an offering
from forgetful me

My good intention tend to fall consistently by the wayside it seems regardless of the thousand times I've tried You'd think I'd learn by now, I begin to doubt myself In the end, I just wonder who I am

Why do I forget what I hold so dear
How do I forget the words I need to hear
I want to change, take this as an offering
from forgetful me

You know me inside and out and have never had the slightest doubt that you'll finish the work you've started in me

Why do I forget what I hold so dear
How do I forget the words I need to hear
I want to change, take this as an offering
from forgetful me

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Crossroad

It's a haunting that vies for my attention
It's a journey, destination unclear

It's a feeling, no map, no road signs but it's drawing me near this unknown

It's adventure that's pulling me from safety It's a calling to leave the arrows behind It's embracing the sense of something bigger and open up to this unknown

Now I'm standing, standing at the crossroad
the outcome only God knows, still I try to catch a glimpse I'm standing, standing at the crossroad
do I listen to the ought tos, or listen to my heart

It's an aching to feel the touch of healing It's desire to be truly satisfied It's a longing to experience the romance and lose myself in this unknown

Now I'm standing, standing at the crossroad
the outcome only God knows, still I try to catch a glimpse I'm standing, standing at the crossroad
do I listen to the ought tos

It's a constance decision, to walk away from resignation and let the smallness of my story disappear

Now I'm standing, standing at the crossroad
the outcome only God knows, still I try to catch a glimpse I'm standing, standing at the crossroad
do I listen to the ought tos, or listen to my heart

Copyright 2005 Amy Young

Words Cannot Express

Words cannot express my heart, the feelings deep inside I'm overwhelmed with gratitude by your commitment to my life In saving the world you had me in mind
The pain, the sorrow, even death, my words cannot express

Words cannot express the thoughts that wander through my mind A web of certain disbelief that new life can be mine
The forgiveness you offer is much more than I deserve
I marvel in your presence Lord, my words cannot express

I'm speechless and in wonder how to thank the one who gives all

My emotions go unspoken
let my heart communicate to you
Let my heart communicate to you

Words cannot express my love, the yearning in my soul
To say I love you face to face in a place I long to know You claim me as your child with devotion and delight
To be with you is all I need, my words cannot express

Oh to be with you is all I need. My words cannot express

Copyright 2005 by Amy Young